Woman accused of stealing $90,000 from employer

Published: April 21, 2010, 12:30 am

A woman faces multiple felony charges after she allegedly stole more than $90,000 from her Elma, NY employer, state police said Tuesday.

Megan, 32, who was employed by a manufacturer in Elma, NY, is accused of stealing checks, forging signatures, petit larceny and falsifying business records over more than a year.

She was arraigned and released on her own recognizance .
